

Followers want comfort,
stability, and solutions
from their leaders; that is babysitting.

Real leaders ask hard
questions that knock
people out of their
comfort zone, and then

they manage the
resulting distress.